

Is Your Mama a Llama?

Written and text copyrighted © 1989 by Deborah Guarino.

Illustrations copyrighted © 1989 by Stephen Kellogg.

All rights reserved. Used by permission of Scholastic, Inc.

Produced under Chapter 1 of Title 17, section 121 of the U.S. Code (Copyright Act).
Any further reproduction or distribution in a format other than a specialized format is an infringement of copyright.

Activities

- Make your own version of the story with your child. Follow the pattern in the story, but add the names of other animals to the text. Illustrate the story and share it with others.
- Play "I See" with your child. Choose something that your child can see and give him or her a clue or two about what you have chosen, such as "I see something red and round." This is a good game for times when you have to wait.
- Make a collage of "mamas" and "babies." Encourage your child to find pictures of "mama" animals and their young from magazines or newspapers, cut them out, and glue them to construction paper.

Read More About It!

If you and your child enjoyed this book, look for these related titles at your local library or bookstore: Are You My Mother? by P.D. Eastman, Stellaluna by Janell Cannon, Whose Mouse Are You? by Robert Kraus.

