Activities

- Make a list with your child of possible delicious surprises. Use the phrases from the story and give your child a surprising taste treat. Encourage your child to guess what the treat is.
- Each of the animals in the story gave the younger animals something they would enjoy. Tell the story again and substitute other animals, such as those found in a zoo or a circus.
- Give your child several surprises over the next week and then include him or her in planning surprises for other family members.
